AUSBIOTECH 2010 NATIONAL CONFERENCE SPEAKERS' PROFILE

Dr Andrew Campitelli
Diagnostics Manager
MiniFAB (Aust) Pty Ltd

Dr. Andrew Campitelli is Diagnostics Manager at MiniFAB (Aust) Pty Ltd, Melbourne, Australia. Andrew completed his undergraduate and PhD studies in Electronic Engineering at RMIT in Melbourne specializing in biosensors and worked as a post-doctoral fellow at CNRS in Besançon, France, later establishing and managing the biosensor group at IMEC, Belgium. He authored the NEXUS Association Technology Roadmap for Point-of-Care Diagnostics and in 2004 returned to Australia to join MiniFAB after a short time with the Victorian State Government. At MiniFAB, Andrew is responsible for sales, marketing and business development, and uses his extensive expertise in biotechnology and microfluidic diagnostics to assist clients in creating structured product development plans and product roadmaps. A well-known expert in diagnostics, Andrew is a frequent invited speaker at international conferences and serves on a number of review boards in industry and academia as well as on the steering committee of the SmartHEALTH project within the European Research Framework VI.
