AUSBIOTECH 2010 NATIONAL CONFERENCE SPEAKERS' PROFILE

Dr Andrew Cuthbertson
Chief Scientific Officer
CSL Limited

After completing medical training at the University of Melbourne and PhD in Immunology at the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute in Australia, Dr Cuthbertson spent five years doing molecular biology research as a staff member at the Howard Florey Institute in Melbourne and the National Institutes of Health in the United States. He then spent seven years at Genentech, Inc in San Francisco working on anti-VEGF therapy for age related macular degeneration. Dr Cuthbertson was recruited to CSL Limited in 1997 as Research Director under Professor Ian Gust, and succeeded Professor Gust as R&D Director in March 2000. Dr Cuthbertson is currently R&D Director and Chief Scientific Officer of CSL Limited.

Dr Cuthbertson has a keen interest in biopharmaceutical drug development. He currently manages an internal R&D budget of over $300m, and a global R&D organisation of 750 scientists. He is responsible for crafting the global R&D strategy for CSL.
