AUSBIOTECH 2010 NATIONAL CONFERENCE SPEAKERS' PROFILE

Dr Lewis Schulz
Chief Operating Officer
Hatchtech Pty Ltd

Lewis is Chief Operating Officer at Hatchtech Pty Ltd, a privately held company developing technology from Melbourne University and leads the development program for their novel pediculicide. Lewis also works with Melbourne Ventures in start-up company establishment and incubation and was instrumental in the recent successful capital raising for Otifex Therapeutics.

He has more than fifteen years local and international experience with drug and device development and proven experience in CMC, non-clinical, regulatory and clinical development. Previous roles have involved various therapeutic areas including oncology, inflammation and dermatology and included six years in European posts with international pharmaceutical companies.

While working for Bristol Myers Squibb International, Lewis was instrumental in development and implementation of regulatory and marketing strategy for their oncology portfolio in the Central and Eastern European region.

He holds a Bachelor of Science (with Honours) and PhD in Chemistry from Monash University, Australia, and has completed a Diploma in Management from Henley College, UK.
