

Davies Collison Cave is hosting a Breakfast Satellite Event to be held in association with the AusBiotech 2010 National Conference

Global IP strategy: US, European, Chinese and Australian Perspectives

Australia's biotechnology industry is coming of age, sharing close to 1.5 percent of the global biotechnology market. But to act globally, one must be able to think globally.

Davies Collison Cave has assembled a panel of experts to lead an interactive discussion of global IP issues affecting Australian businesses. The panel will include Ms Eugenia Garrett-Wackowski, Townsend, Townsend & Crew, who will canvass the Myriad decision; Dr Tony Maschio, Edwards Angell Palmer Dodge (UK), who will look at changes in European patent strategy; Dr Shenmin Yin, CN-KnowHow Intellectual property Office, who will consider enforcement in China and Mr Michael Caine, Davies Collison Cave, who will consider reforms proposed by IP Australia.

Chaired by Dr Victor Argaet, with support by Dr John Hughes, Dr Bill Pickering, Dr Gavin Recchia, Dr Tania Obranovich, Mr Mark Roberts, Dr Jane Hutchison and Dr Garth Hendry, this will prove a useful forum to discuss global IP strategies.

Date: Wednesday 20 October 2010
Time: 7:00am - 9:30am
Venue: Meeting Room 212, Level 2,
Melbourne Convention Centre.
RSVP: By Friday 15 October 2010 to events@davies.com.au
Please advise of any dietary requirements.
Cost: Free to all invitees.
Breakfast will be supplied complimentary.
Places are limited. Strictly first in best dressed.

Victor Argaet, Partner,
Davies Collison Cave,
Australia

Eugenia Garrett-Wackowski,
Partner, Townsend and
Townsend and Crew LLP,
USA

Tony Maschio, Partner,
Edwards Angell Palmer &
Dodge Innovations LLP, UK

Yin Shenmin, Manager,
International Department,
CN-KnowHow Intellectual Property Agent Limited,
China

Michael Caine, Partner,
Davies Collison Cave,
Australia